

Workplace Giving:

How You Can Help Breast Cancer Survivors

By choosing to direct your Workplace Giving program to Be Uplifted Inc, you will be directly supporting local men, women and their families seriously ill with breast cancer.

100% of your donation will go towards patient care.

What is Workplace Giving?

Workplace giving is a simple way for employees to regularly donate a very small portion of their salary to a chosen Australian charity like Be Uplifted.

Because all donations are automatically made out of employees' pre-tax income, donations are automatically tax deductible plus you get that good feeling from helping local breast cancer patients.

Our Workplace Giving program makes it so simple to support local families in times when it is most needed.

With the regular and reliable donations from our Workplace Giving program with Good 2 Give, we provide essential services and support to local families.

Why Give to Be Uplifted?

Regular and reliable donations allow to provide care services and support local families.

A Local Charity With Local Values

Each week, we are overwhelmed with requests for assistance from local men and women suffering from breast cancer, and by patient referrals from local hospitals.

Choosing to participate in a workplace giving program helps meet the growing demand for our patient care services.

Patient Focus

Be Uplifted is a local charity focused on ensuring local patients have their individual needs met during breast cancer treatment.

Our charity does not turn away breast cancer patients who need our help, and our hardworking volunteers are committed to offering support to every patient.

No Administrative Costs

Unlike large charities, your donation will not be swallowed up by bureaucratic costs to keep our charity functioning, or spent on expensive advertising campaigns.

100% of the funds donated are used to provided services to breast cancer patients.

What are the Benefits of Workplace Giving?

Workplace Giving offers many advantages for employees

- Simplified donating: Each financial year you receive a statement showing much you have donated. No keeping tabs on receipts, no messy record keeping.
- Spread out your charity giving: By using a Workplace Giving program you can spread your donations over the year, rather than making a one-off donation.
- Pre-tax savings: With charity donations withdrawn from your salary before your employer calculates your PAYG withholding tax, you gain an immediate tax saving.
- Flexibility: You can start, stop or change your donations at any time. It is your choice.
- Feel good: Get that happy feeling knowing your regular donations are doing good in your community.

Workplace Giving offers many advantages for employers

- Corporate Responsibility and Social Impact: Show your clients your company is willing to help make an impact on the lives on locals who are in need.
- Staff Engagement: Workplace Giving offers employees the chance to feel their workplace is contributing to their local community in a meaningful way.
- Improved Workplace Culture and Staff Morale: As employees feel supported by their employer and are likely to view their employer as taking an interest in local charitable and social causes, improvements in workplace culture and morale will occur.
- Reputation: Supporting local values and community interests is good for your business reputation, which can in turn promote a more solid customer base and create opportunities to build relationships in the community, plus assist in attracting and retaining quality staff
